Foreign Aid Bill Debate

Stassen Submits Plea to Restore Big Cuts Imposed By House Group

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House started debate today on a $2,638,741,750 foreign aid money bill with a plea from the administration to restore sharp cuts imposed by the House Appropriations Committee.

The plea was relayed to Chairman Cannon (D-Mo) by Harold E. Stassen, the President's special assistant on disarmament.

Cannon's committee lopped $627,900,000 from new cash requested by the President to finance the program of military and economic aid to non-Communist nations for the current fiscal year.

In a letter to Cannon and other House leaders, Stassen said the committee cuts "will seriously hamper the carrying out of the President's mutual security program."

Cannon made the letter public. Stassen said a $420,000,000 cut in military aid proposed by the committee "would result in an inability to fulfill urgent needs in countries where military requirements have been discussed and agreed, and where countries have taken steps to meet commitments on raising forces, granting base rights, etc."

He warned of the possible "serious consequences" of the recommended cut in Asiatic programs. Despite Stassen's plea, Rep. Passman (D-La), floor manager of the bill and chairman of a subcommittee that drafted it, said he believed the House would stave off efforts to amend the legislation. The House was not expected to reach the voting stage on key amendments until tomorrow.

Selection Of Rioter's Jurors Begins

UNION, Mo. (AP)—Selection of a jury began today in the trial of Paul Edward Kenton, 24-year-old ringleader of the Missouri Penitentiary riot last September. He is charged with first degree murder.

Thirty extra prospective jurors have been impaneled, bringing the panel from which the jury will be picked to 54 in the court of Circuit Judge Joseph T. Tate.

Judge Tate has indicated night sessions will be held. Cots and other equipment were moved into two rooms at the courthouse for use by the jurors during the trial.

Kenton, who was serving 10 years from Henry County for burglary, larceny and jailbreaking at the time of the riot, is one of several convicts accused of stabbing and beating to death Walter Lee Donnell, 29-year-old St. Louis convict who had turned informer. Donnell was dragged from his cell and killed during the riot.

Prosecuting Atty. James T. Riley of Cole County will handle the state's case in the trial which was brought to Franklin County on a change of venue. William F. Bahn of St. Louis will represent Kenton.

Rollie M. Laster, previously convicted and sentenced to death for his part in the Donnell killing, said in a confession read at his trial that Kenton held Donnell's arms behind his back while other prisoners stabbed him. Laster said he later saw Kenton holding a sledge hammer, over Donnell's body.

Jackie Lee Noble 26, received a life sentence at Jefferson City in the same killing and Donald W. Delapp was convicted last month in Kansas City by a jury which recommended life imprisonment.

Accident Deaths Increase In Missouri

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Fifteen more deaths were added to Missouri's bloody highway accident toll last week.

The Highway Patrol reported today the new tragedies brought the total for the month to 23 and raised the year's total to 439. That's enough people to populate a village the size of Atlanta, in Macon County, which had 438 residents in 1950.

In the same week a year ago, 22 persons were killed, making the monthly total 29 at that point and the yearly total 457—18 more than have been killed so far this year.

Baby Vanishes In Kidnaping Without Cause

SIOUX CITY Iowa (AP)—A curly-haired 2-year-old girl disappeared from her crib last night in what police called a "motiveless kidnaping."

A slender T-shirted prowler, seen running with a bundle at the time the child vanished, was sought as the abductor.

Donna Sue Davis disappeared within 30 minutes from the time her mother, Mrs. James Davis, tucked her into her crib with the words:

"Three to get ready and four to go to bed."

The parents are of modest means and knew of no one who would have a grudge against them. No note was left by the abductor and no phone calls were received.

Police today called on the National Guard and residents to join in a mass search for the child.

Chief of Police James O'Keefe appealed to "the entire Midwest" to report any sightings of a white man, about 28, clad in a white T-shirt and slacks and carrying a bundle.

The baby, described by friends as "the darling of the neighborhood," is a blonde and weighs about 21 pounds. She was discovered missing about 10 p. m. A screen had been removed from a window.

Davis, a clerk for the Chicago & North Western Railroad, and his family live on the first floor of a two-story duplex in a modest Sioux City neighborhood.

Police Capt. John Rispole said he has learned no motive for a kidnaping. He said there apparently has been no family trouble and the parents knew of no one who would want to take the child.

The Davises have two other children, Mary Clair, 11, and Timmy, 7, who were asleep in another bedroom.

Several neighbors reported seeing a man come up to the duplex and go to the back where the bedroom is located.

Although the end of the crib was near the window, police believe the person must have entered the bedroom. The window sill is about four feet from the ground.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis said they heard no noise in the bedroom. Capt. Rispole said Laif Sjeldos, who lives in the neighborhood, told of chasing a man with a bundle in his arms down an alley about a block from the Davis home.

Sjeldos said he cornered the man in some bushes but that he got away when Sjeldos went into his house to telephone police.

The blonde hair blue eyed child was dressed in pink pajamas when put to bed.

Two Rodeo Performers Fatally Shot In Texas During Stay at Motel

WACO, Tex. (AP)—Two rodeo performers were shot fatally yesterday in a Waco motel.

A few hours later the estranged husband of one of the victims came to the Dallas County Sheriff's office with his attorney and was questioned until the early morning hours.

Bobby Royce Darby, 24, was killed instantly with two shots in the head from a small-caliber weapon. Mrs. Polly McGowan, 28, died several hours later from one gunshot wound in the head.

She recently had separated from her husband, Raymond F. McGowan 49, and moved from Dallas to Waco.

Friends said Mrs. McGowan, a trick riding instructor, stopped at the motel about 10 a.m. to pick up Darby, one of her students.

Expresses Some Hope Strike Is Near End

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some hope for an end to the capital's public transit strike, now in its 11th day was voiced last night by District of Columbia Commissioner Samuel Spencer.

Spencer said he was "slightly encouraged" by the progress of negotiations.

Spencer is one of three commissioners who govern the District of Columbia under supervision of the federal government.

Troop Train Derailed

Teenager Says He Put Stick, Rocks On Rail 'for Fun'; Six Slightly Hurt

MULDRAUGH, Ky. (AP)—A 13-year-old boy today admitted he caused a seven-car troop train to derail near here yesterday.

Edward L. Boyle, special agent in charge of the Federal Bureau of Investigation office in Louisville, said the boy admitted putting a 30-inch stick and rocks atop a rail. This jolted wheels of the locomotive off the rails.

Boyle said the boy reported he did it "for fun."

The U.S. Attorney's office said prosecution of the boy was not authorized since there was a lack of criminal intent.

This little community near Ft. Knox will long remember the derailment—not so much because of what happened but because of what almost happened.

Six persons suffered slight injuries when the train left the rails. Aboard were 200 Ohio Army reservists en route to Knox for summer training.

The Illinois Central train of pullman cars plowed a five-foot-deep furrow through the backyards of several Muldraugh homes, demolishing three outhouses.

An indirect casualty in the accident was Mrs. Bernice Tate. Her young daughter, Nancy, had left an outbuilding just before the train plowed through the Tate's backyard. Mrs. Tate had seen her daughter go in, but had not seen her leave. When the woman saw the steaming locomotive where the outhouse had been, she began a frantic search for her daughter.

The girl was found a few minutes later at a neighbor's, but by that time Mrs. Tate was in a state of shock. She was treated at a hospital and released.

Gen. Electric Urged For Layoff Pay

NEW YORK (AP)—Another big segment of organized labor will make its bid for layoff pay guarantees when electrical workers begin contract talks with the General Electric Co. next week.

Milton Weirauch, district president of the CIO International Union of Electrical Workers, said today the layoff plan will be a "major part" of union proposals for GE and other electrical manufacturing firms.

Negotiations begin July 19 with GE, ordinarily the bellwether of the industry. Talks with Westinghouse, second largest electrical company, follow.

Weirauch said chances of extending the layoff pay program to the electrical industry "are excellent."

He noted that when the union first broached the idea at a wage talk last year, GE's reaction was "violently negative." But he said the discussion then was "only exploratory."

"We now have a whole new contract to settle," he said.

The present two-year contract with GE, covering more than 100,000 workers in about 70 plants across the country, expires Sept. 19.

Weirauch pointed out the union has a "no contract, no work" policy, which would mean a strike if a new pact isn't concluded by then.

Chamber Board Meets

The Chamber of Commerce board of directors meeting will be held at 3:30 p.m. Tuesday at the C. of C. office.

Dixon-Yates Talks Continue As--

Senate Asks Memphis Officials About Proposed Power Plant

WASHINGTON (AP)—Administration officials studying possible cancellation of the Dixon-Yates contract apparently sought ironclad assurance today that the city of Memphis will build its own power plant.

They arranged a conference with Memphis Mayor Frank Tobey and Maj. Thomas H. Allen, president of the city's light, gas and water division.

Tobey and Allen were called here to meet with Atty. Gen. Brownell, Budget Director Rowland R. Hughes and Chairman Vogel of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

The three were designated by President Eisenhower to study

Corn, Wheat Crops Will Both Be Larger, Reads U. S. Forecast

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department today forecast this year's corn crop at 3,449,667,000 bushels and the wheat crop at 860,331,000 bushels.

The corn estimate—the first of the year for the crop—compares with 2,964,639,000 bushels produced last year and an average of 3,080,115,000 for the 10-year (1944-53) average.

The wheat figure is 15,116,000 bushels more than 845,215,000 bushels forecast a month ago. It compares with last year's production of 969,781,000 bushels and with the 10-year average of 1,154,073,000 bushels.

Ex-Soldiers Head Home After Release

HONG KONG (AP)—Three former American soldiers who changed their minds about living in Communist China sailed for home tonight.

The three men—William A. Cowart, 23, of Dalton, Ga., Otto G. Bell, 24, of Hillsboro, Miss., and Lewis W. Griggs, 22, of Jacksonville, Tex. — said they expect to be prosecuted but are ready to face the consequences in order to tell what happened to them.

Life with the Reds was hell, they all agreed.

Captured in Korea, they and 20 other Americans refused repatriation. Four months ago, Cowart said, the trio and two Blegat deserters began demanding that the Reds let them go. The Chinese announced in June that all five would be released.

The Americans crossed the border into Hong Kong territory Sunday afternoon. British immigration officials turned them over to U.S. consular authorities, who said they appeared to have retained their United States citizenship and then prepared travel documents permitting their direct return to the United States.

The consulate paid their passage home on the liner President Cleveland, due in San Francisco July 29 after a stop in Japan. A consular spokesman said they would be "expected to repay the (passage) money at such time as they can."

For the voyage home, the State Department ordered the men restricted to the ship until it docks in California.

The American government has not indicated what is in store for the trio, except to say that they will "be responsible for any acts they might have committed."

Because all three and 17 other former prisoners of war still in China have been given dishonorable discharges, Secretary of Defense Wilson said last month he did not think the three returning would be tried by court-martial.

Sedalian Is Charged With Burglary, Theft Of the Skyline Store

William Henry Johnson, 37, 740 West Cooper, has been charged with burglary and larceny in the second degree by Prosecuting Attorney Harold Barrick in connection with the breaking into the Skyline Liquor Store, on West June, 50 the latter part of June. Johnson is held in the county jail in default of a $1,000 bond for appearance before Magistrate Frank T. Armstrong.

He was picked up by the Sedalia police early Saturday and, after questioning by police officers and the State Highway Patrol, charges were filed against him.

Approximately two cases of assorted whiskies were stolen from the Skyline.

At the time of the robbery thieves broke a rear window through which they gained entrance. Besides the whiskey stolen, the thieves stole several electric razors and watches.

Street Paving Started

Barriers Will Stop Traffic In Segments Of 2 Blocks Each; Cool In 24 Hours

The long-needed repair work on downtown streets will begin Tuesday morning with Osage Avenue from the tracks to Third Street.

Osage will be closed between these two for about 24 hours. The contractors hope to complete each two-block segment during a day and allow a night for the hot-mix asphalt to cool.

The intersections of Osage with Third, Second and Main will remain open, however, and won't be paved until repair work is done on those streets later. This will keep congestion to a minimum for the present.

Osage will eventually be paved south to Broadway from the tracks.

W. C. Davis, city engineer, warns everyone against crossing the barriers, as it could cause considerable damage for which the violator is liable. Also, Davis said, pedestrians should be very careful not to cross the sidewalk barriers, as the hot asphalt can cause painful burns.

Davis says that although local business on the streets closed will be temporarily inconvenienced, this will not exceed a 48-hour period.

All of the downtown paving will be done two blocks at a time with the hot-mix asphalt. The work will be done by the Schroeder Company, St. Joseph, and is expected to be completed by State Fair time.

Third Street and South Ohio will not be included in the hot-mix asphalt plan but most of the other downtown area streets will be re-finished. The rest will be sealed-coated except where petitions of remonstrance have defeated this work.

Streets to be paved with hot-mix asphalt are: Second, Lamine to Missouri; Sixth, Lamine to Harrison; Osage, tracks to Broadway; Lamine, tracks to Broadway; Fourth, Fifth and Seventh from Lamine to Osage.

The Schroeder bid was accepted at a special session of the City Council June 15 submitting a bid of $7.94 per ton on an estimated 4,000 tons of hotmix asphalt. The action on the paving was passed unanimously by the seven members present.

Daily announcements as to which streets will be closed will appear daily in The Democrat-Capital as submitted by the city engineer.

Irish Want to Save Their Immigrant Girls From British Danger

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP)—Ireland's Roman Catholics are sending missionaries to England.

A pastoral letter read in all Catholic churches of the Irish Republic yesterday said the missionaries were going to help young Irish girls evade the "terrible dangers" lurking in English cities.

Emigration across the Irish Sea has soared since World War II. About 800,000 people of Irish nationality now live in Britain most of them in big English cities where factories are booming.

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Mingo Boyd, 71, died and 17 other St. Louis area persons were overcome by heat exhaustion yesterday as the temperature hit 95 degrees for the fourth straight day of 90-or-better readings.

Boyd died at Homer C. Phillips hospital two hours after he collapsed on the street.

Police, Firemen Disperse It--

Argentine Truce Is Jarred By Catholic Demonstration

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Argentina's uneasy church-state truce was jarred yesterday as police and firemen routed Catholic rioters staging their second anti-Peron demonstration in 24 hours.

The riot landed 13 policemen and firemen in hospitals and brought condemnation of the demonstrators from Santiago Cardinal Copello, archbishop of Buenos Aires who has urged a peaceful course in the dispute.

Sixty persons were arrested but many were released after questioning.

In the first violence since the bloody June 16 revolt against President Juan Peron, more than 500 demonstrators milled through the Plaza de Mayo near the Metropolitan Cathedral. Police trying to disperse the crowd were stoned.

Defying church appeals for peace and Peron's own call for "pacification," the demonstrators jeered police and shouted "he must go" in an apparent reference to the President.

One woman screamed at police: "Why didn't you come when they were burning the churches?"

Firemen sprayed the rioters with chemical foam and brown-tinted water as police wagons rushed to the square.

Most of the crowd fled from the Plaza, but some gathered a few blocks away and marched toward the Naval Club Building, singing the national anthem. Four fire-trucks were rushed up to scatter the marchers again with water sprays.

Sunday's riot broke out shortly after priests finished reading from their pulpits a letter from Cardinal Copello urging Catholics to refrain from provocative acts.

Interviewed last night at a sanitarium where he is being treated for injuries suffered in a fall last Tuesday, the primate said "he condemned" the attitude of those who call themselves Catholic and disturb the peace.

The Catholics were already under fire in the pro-government press for the demonstration they staged Saturday—Argentina's Independence Day—in which some 10,000 marchers took part. The papers accused the marchers, who were noisy but orderly, of breaking the truce Peron had called for last Tuesday.

Church leaders said the march was "completely unauthorized."

Tide Takes 8 Lives Off Scottish Coast

NAIRN, Scotland (AP)—A Scottish mother, her six young children, and a niece were swept to death by a surging tide as they paddled in the surf off a picnic beach near here last night. Six bodies were recovered by police today.

The woman's husband, John McIntosh, 46, a forestry worker, stayed behind among some sand dunes to make tea and prepare a picnic meal.

A sea mist came down and McIntosh lost sight of his family. When they did not appear McIntosh began a search. He soon realized the tide must have cut them off and notified police. When the tide receded they found six bodies. Two are still missing.

Billy Graham Invited For Moscow Crusade

LONDON (AP)—A Russian church leader said today Billy Graham will be invited to Moscow in the near future as a guest of the Evangelical Christian Baptist Council of the Soviet Union.

The Rev. J. L. Zhidkov, president of the Russian Baptist movement, speaking in behalf of a group of visiting Russian church leaders, told a news conference "we all hope he will be able to come over."

Graham, the American evangelist now on a European tour, has said he would gladly visit Russia if he were given an opportunity to preach the Gospel.

No Army Spread Planned

Stevens Says New Tactics In Battle Replace Dispersal Of Installations

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army has told sharply critical congressmen it has no plans to scatter its posts more widely in this country as a precaution against atomic warfare.

Rep. Riley (D-Sc) said this might invite a "major disaster." This was disclosed today with the release of testimony given secretly June 20 before a House Appropriations subcommittee which is considering this year's two-billion-dollar military public works budget.

Under questioning, retiring Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens said the Army's "planning for the modern atomic age takes the form" of new dispersal tactics in combat, "rather than any major change in the installations themselves."

"You do not regard a major change in the installations as being too urgent?" asked subcommittee Chairman Mahon (D-Tex). "Well," Stevens replied, "I think that it so happens that we have a pretty well dispersed Army training and permanent base system throughout the country."

"It is more concentrated in some parts of the country than others, but by and large it is pretty well distributed."

But Riley called for a "new look" into these plans. "If you concentrate too many troops in any one point, you are inviting, in my opinion, a major disaster."

Rep. Sikes (D-Fla) said the Army's program means "a continuation of the old policy of stacking all facilities together—where enemy bombers could get to them easily."

Col. W. R. Shuler, chief of the Construction Division, said "I would not for a moment argue the point that it would not be better to be spread out from the standpoint of the weapons that exist today," adding:

"But the tremendous cost involved and the acute training problems caused by dispersal are factors to consider."

Narcotics Peddler Receives Sentence For Sale of Drug

ST. LOUIS (AP)—John H. Butler, 34-year-old Negro described by federal narcotics agents as the source of one-fourth of the heroin sales in St. Louis, today was sentenced to five years in federal prison.

Butler had pleaded guilty last Tuesday to four charges of selling the drug and two of possessing it. Butler's attorney, Frank W. Clegg, a Negro, told the court the narcotics situation in St. Louis "is beyond cleaning up."

Clegg said he had asked that action on Butler's case be delayed until September so that he could "report on conditions to the court."

Federal District Judge George H. Moore then asked him "Do you want to get yourself killed?"

Clegg replied, "I don't mind that your honor."

Herbert H. Freer, assistant U.S. attorney, said that Butler had been known as "a substantial dealer" for four years.

A narcotics bureau agent testified no witnesses were available during that time to prosecute Butler.

Butler was sentenced to five years on each of six counts, the sentences to be concurrent. The maximum penalty is a $2,000 fine and five years on each charge.

Arbitrary Yackity-yak

You don't have to travel and meet strange persons to encounter conversational hogs, but a recent experience will serve to pin the tag on one of a kind that can be found at home, too.

At a roadside beanery for a quick cup of coffee the man on the next stool was a truck driver. Both of us wanted to talk and I soon discovered he was not only an intelligent fellow but blessed with much worldly goods, although he could have been lying about the latter. Mutual was the exchange of words for a few minutes, until the truck driver shifted gears. Then he turned out to be what Ruth Millet labels as a conversational killer. He had arbitrary views on everything that came up for verbal tossing back and forth. He was the type Clifton Fadiman speaks of on his radio program "Conversation," as "so over-interested in his own viewpoint he spoils the game for everybody."

When conversation needs stimulating, this type usually has a ready negative reply to anything anybody else brings up. You like a certain new type of car, he doesn't and flings out wordily to prove you are wrong. Even the kind of coffee you prefer is not like the kind he has been drinking for years. About the only thing he won't be arbitrary about is that he might have a better wife than you've got.

When guys and gals like that take over they are slamming the conversational door in the other person's face. That's what happened to me with the truck driver. The conversation became strictly one-sided with my only rejoinder "uh-huh, uh-huh". He thought I was a good listener, but I was miles away mentally. And that's about the only escape from a conversational bore—"uh-huh" him to death and take to the mental escape timber.

When anyone becomes so absorbed and vocal about their own points of view the door is closed to intelligent and stimulating discussion.

We Need To Parlez-Vous English First

In the Soviet Union, according to its newspaper Izvestia, all students who want a higher education are now required to know one foreign language before—not after—they enter college. It is easy to see how this college requirement can help the Communists in the cold war, and put the West at a distinct disadvantage. In the United States few colleges expect a student to have acquired proficiency in a foreign language before admittance. In fact, an American student can graduate from four years of college provided he has merely studied—for so many semesters and by no means thoroughly—learned a foreign tongue.

Yet the need for Americans to learn foreign languages becomes greater with the growing responsibility of Americans in world affairs. Many Americans go abroad nowadays, for business, pleasure, or with the armed services.

Americans working at home in the arts and sciences and in government service feel a need to read in French, Spanish, German or sometimes Russian. More Americans in college should be able to converse in their native tongues with foreign students coming to this country from allied nations in Europe and Latin America.

The younger a person is when he begins to learn a foreign language, the easier this learning is. For best results, bright students should really begin this study in elementary school, before they reach high school where their attentions are diverted to so many other channels. But how could such a program be attempted? American schools are already over-crowded and understaffed. And alas! by the time the youngsters get to college the professors complain—and statistically prove—that most of them haven't yet learned to spell properly in English! These are dismal facts.

Drew Pearson Says—

Democrats, Ike to Unlock Housing Jam

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The backstage jockeying between the White House and Capitol Hill over public housing is one of the most interesting developments of this congressional session.

As usual, it finds the Democrats trying to pull the President's congressional chestnuts out of the fire. It even found Congressman John McCormack of Massachusetts, Democratic leader of the House, phoning the office of Assistant President Sherman Adams asking him to switch at least one Republican vote inside the Rules Committee.

What happened was that the House Rules Committee split 6 to 6 for and against Ike's proposal that the government finance 35,000 units of public housing. This was much lower than the 135,000 figure passed by the Senate, but even so, Eisenhower's Republicans in the Rules Committee balked.

Since the Rules Committee has life-and-death power to bottle up legislation, this tie vote meant that not only public housing but about $2,000,000,000 for FHA building construction loans was stopped cold in committee. Naturally this aroused a howl from the real-estate lobby which very much wants money for FHA but doesn't want even one of the public housing units recommended by Ike.

GOP-er Gibbs GOP-er

Among the GOP congressmen who opposed their chief in the White House were Leo Allen, of Illinois, former rules chairman; and Henry Latham of New York, who has been considered as a potential candidate for mayor of New York or even governor. Since public housing is a hot issue in New York City, Latham's vote was a big surprise. So also was Leo Allen's.

"Of course Leo will vote for public housing," glibbed his Republican colleague, Clarence Brown of Ohio. "Leo's become a New Dealer. He goes down to the White House and comes back to vote the way they want him to."

Guest Editorial—

MEXICO (MO.) LEDGER. Yelling for Help!—Now if you were in an emergency and needed help, would you yell "Help" just once?

Of course not. You'd yell and keep yelling until you got help.

You know the first few times you yell "help," people wonder if you really mean it, as if they are hearing you right.

A good friend told us the other day that display advertising in the Ledger didn't get any results for him.

We were upset. We didn't discuss his statement further at the time but came back to the office and checked up. His billing indicated that he ran a display ad infrequently. Never regularly. He had said classified advertising in the Ledger "really got good results." His monthly billing on classified indicated the regularity of his classified advertising.

In display, he was yelling "Help" and sitting back and waiting. In classified, he was yelling and keeping on yelling and as a result was getting what he wanted from it.

Obviously, we here at the Ledger had so far failed to win his understanding on this all important fact about newspaper and all other kinds of advertising — you have to do it regularly to get the most return on your dollar invested. Consistent advertising gives snowballing results. If you really want help, don't yell just once — keep on yelling. . . .

Freedom's Threat

In a recent report to the annual meeting of the Commonwealth Press Union in London, the delegation was told that "nowhere should freedom to speak and print be considered completely secure." It listed the following devices by which governments exerted pressure on the newspapers.

"By withholding official advertising; by denying information to critical newspapers, while favoring others; by claiming doubtful breaches of privilege; by subsidizing news agencies; by discriminatory rationing of newsprint; by organizing strikes by puppet trade unions; by insisting upon revelation of the source of information that is politically embarrassing; by withdrawal of registration of newspaper postage; and by restriction of reporting facilities to journalists on a police register."

These warnings were given to the British press. The press in this country must be constantly on guard against the very same things!

Four Bright Stars

President Eisenhower honored a fellow general when he asked the Congress to make General Matthew B. Ridgway a full four-star general upon retirement. General Ridgway's permanent rank was major general during his term as Army Chief of Staff. If there was any feeling between the general and the President, this gesture of the four stars upon retirement June 30 should heal the wound.

The general won't be suffering financially. Like many other military men upon retirement, he is going in for a post-retirement career in industry. He will be the new director of the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research.

Thought for Today

Happy are thy men, and happy are these thy servants, which stand continually before thee, and hear thy wisdom.—II Chron. 9:7.

Perfect happiness, I believe, was never intended by the Deity to be the lot of one of His creatures in this world; but that He has very much put in our power the nearness of our approaches to it, is what I have steadfastly believed.—Jefferson.

The World Today—

Ike Probably Will Be Puzzled at Geneva

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (P)—Unless this country has a spy in the Kremlin, President Eisenhower will probably go into the meeting at Geneva a week from today with the British, French and Russians.

He'll be well coached on the details of any proposals he makes to the Russians, or any they are likely to throw at him. But what is apt to mystify him, unless he has extraordinary inside information, is why Russia has sounded reasonable lately.

Every time something happens in the Kremlin—a death, a shift in power, a purge—there's a spurt of wishful thinking in this country that now there'll be an explosion and an end to communism.

There's been another spurt in recent months because the Russians talked of wanting to end the cold war. Various wishful reasons have been offered: that they needed peace, due to a critical food shortage, and so on.

For people supposedly that wobbly the Russians have made amazing scientific and industrial progress since the war. In the past year some Russian leaders have made statements critical of their own agriculture and industry.

True, that might be a frank acknowledgment of serious internal trouble. But the very frankness can also be interpreted as showing marked strength and confidence on the part of the Kremlin leaders. If they were in bad trouble, would they want to acknowledge it to their own people and outsiders? Hardly, if they were in real danger.

Last week Eisenhower said he knew of no one in the government who was suggesting the Russians were seeking peace because of weakness. By coincidence, the next day a congressional committee released the record of a hearing.

held a month ago, at which Secretary of State Dulles said the Russian economy was collapsing.

The White House lost no time soft pedaling that the next day. "Collapse" is a colorful word which, when used about Russia, could not help but please members of Congress. Dulles is sometimes given to colorful words.

But many of the men around Dulles are reported to feel that while Russia may have some soft spots, they are not necessarily of the kind that would force her to seek peace.

It would be just as reasonable, and perhaps more realistic, to assume the Russians are talking peace—provided they're at all sincere—from quite other motives:

A realization that their tough tactics have solidified the Western allies while soft talk may split them, since all are eager for peace; a realization that in a hydrogen war, which gets closer every time the Russians get tougher, no one can win; and perhaps hope that a shift in tactics will keep Germany disarmed, a result they failed to attain by swagger and bluster.

The real question whose answer won't be known until after the Geneva conference, at least, is this: are the Russians sincere at all in wanting peace?

As Sedalia Sees It—

Administration Will Handle Reins Only After An Attack

By JOSEPH A. DEAR
Democrat-Capitol
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Administration policy assumes civil defense will become the responsibility of the national government after an atomic attack, but not before.

President Eisenhower's conception of the national government's post-attack responsibilities became clear during Operation Alert. It was the Civil Defense exercise in which the President, and other key officials, attempted to operate the government from secret hide-aways after a devastating enemy blow. Imaginary, of course. The President concluded the exercise by declaring martial law.

This is generally considered a desperate resource. When a state of martial law prevails, the Army is supreme. It governs. Constitutionally guaranteed rights are suspended.

At his last press conference the President was asked why he issued the mock declaration of martial law during Operation Alert. Civil Defense authorities informed him, he said, that the theoretical attack had destroyed or damaged 53 major cities. That left him no choice.

At the same press conference the President made it clear that the national government is not prepared to shoulder anywhere near as much responsibility before an attack. He specifically rejected the recommendation of his Commission on International Relations that the national government assume primary responsibility for civil defense now.

Diagnosing the intentions of foreign governments and detecting impending attacks, these are responsibilities of the national government, the President said. But evacuation of cities and rescue work call for a great measure of local responsibility and active participation by individuals.

The Commission on Intergovernmental Relations acknowledged the importance of self-help in civil defense. The individual must know how to protect himself, and the individual community must plan for its own protection. But in the report that chairman Meyer Kestbaum submitted to the President, the Commission holds that intergovernmental responsibilities for civil defense are "inappropriately defined and assigned."

At present the states and their political subdivisions are primarily responsible for civil defense. It's as though the National Guard in each state was primarily responsible for overall war plans. A war involves the entire country, and thus war plans are the proper concern of a national agency (the Defense Department).

Similarly, protection of American cities touches on national survival. More than 71 per cent of our industry capacity and over half of the workers employed in manufacturing are concentrated in 50 metropolitan areas. United States might not survive destruction of its major cities—and remember that Operation Alert assumed the destruction of 53 major cities. It's just barely possible that the nation could fight to victory with weapons now in being. But that is not certain. Ability to produce after an attack might be the deciding factor.

That's why civil defense is a national problem. It's a problem which calls for advance planning at the highest level. "The item-by-item approach, with a first aid kit here and a movie projector there, is hardly calculated to produce integrated planning." (From the staff report to the Commission on Intergovernmental Relations.)

The Commission's report points out that a successful atomic attack on any major city would overstrain the resources of its state. Therefore Civil Defense authorities encourage interstate compacts, under which states exchange information and plans. But the Commission notes that the task of making the compacts effective by development of operational plans has moved very slowly.

Actually, the situation is probably darker than the Commission paints it. For the report was prepared before the great dangers of radio-active fall-out were appreciated. According to the best available information, deadly radiation from just one H-bomb could shower over thousands and thousands of square miles.

At any rate the Commission calls the present Civil Defense program a flop. It is a "step-child of national defense" and has "inadequate support at all levels of government."

The Commission is equally critical of programs related to Civil Defense. The government has encouraged industrial dispersion to make industry less vulnerable to atomic attack. "The accomplishments under the program have not been significant," the Commission finds. And "little has been done with respect to the reduction of population density," the Commission's staff reports.

Plan Farming Before Asking For Credit Aid

By Paul Bebermeyer
UM Extension Farm Management Specialist

When we talk about financing farming, usually we are talking about credit. Few farmers accumulate early in life the $20,000 to $50,000 or more that it takes to own and operate a modern Missouri farm complete with equipment and livestock. So, most farmers, like other businessmen must borrow money.

Increasing your income is your main purpose in borrowing money. Unless the credit you get does increase your income, borrowing is very risky business indeed. How can you lessen the risks in borrowing? First, work out a long-time plan for the organization of your farm business so that your main resources available — land, labor, and operating capital — are used to best advantage. This is what we call a balanced farming plan.

In working this plan out, you will discover a number of opportunities for making more money — if you had more operation capital. But every farmer has a limit to the amount of money he can safely borrow, so you must decide where you are going to put your borrowed money to work. Shall it be added fertilizer? A better siren? A "Grade A" milking parlor? A new machine?

A good basic rule is to use borrowed money first where the increased returns are likely to be the quickest, surest, and greatest. You'll likely need to collect some information and do some pencil pushing to decide which choice offers the best opportunity that comes to mind. Consider them all, then select the best.

Once you have decided which part of your business can best use the borrowed money and how much you need, your next step is to decide how much it is safe to borrow and how long it will take to pay off your loan. Get one of our "Annual Budget and Production Plans" from your county agent and figure through the next year's estimated income and expenses. This will indicate about how much you can pay on your loan each year.

Now you are ready to see your credit man. Take along your balanced farming plan. This will show that you have considered your business as a whole and why borrowing money will help you get ahead faster.

Also, take along your Missouri Farm Record Book. Your net worth and your past year's records of receipts and expenses will show that you have the earning capacity necessary to repay the loan. Your balanced farming plan, your next year's production budget, and your farm record book will earn for you the respect of your farm credit man and he can better arrange the terms of your loan so that it will best fit your needs.

This entire procedure will help make your borrowing pleasant, profitable, and free from worry.

Cut Lespedeza Early For Greater Yields

By Ross Fleetwood
UM Extension Field Crops Specialist

Many lespedeza fields in Missouri are ready to cut now for hay. There are several advantages in cutting lespedeza early. First, the quality of the hay will be better. Lespedeza that stands too long tends to lose its lower leaves which means a definite loss in feeding value. Also, the smaller lespedeza is easy to cure.

Second, in years like this when lespedeza is making good growth, it will make a valuable second growth after being cut for hay. This second growth can be used for pasture or for seed.

Chances for a good seed crop may be increased by an early cutting. A few years ago on University of Missouri farms, a lespedeza field that was cut early for hay produced 40 per cent more seed than one that had not been cut.

In general lespedeza should be cut when about six inches of the growth will be clipped off by the cutter bar. This much growth on a good thick stand will mean about one ton of hay per acre.

Of course, a greater growth can be had if the lespedeza is allowed to stand longer but the actual feed value will not be greater. And the early cutting permits the second growth to get off to a good start.

Central Missouri's Weekly Farm Forum

Keeping hogs comfortable will help produce quicker and more efficient gains in hogs, says Leland Tribble, University of Missouri swine specialist. Part of the job of making hogs comfortable is to provide them with plenty of shade and water.

Above is shown a cheap and quickly built shade ideal for hogs—especially in a pasture where there are no trees or buildings available for shade. Materials needed were fence posts, scrap lumber, old woven wire to stretch over the top framework and a quantity of straw, supported by the woven wire, to make the shade. Such a shade, 20 feet by 40 feet, will provide enough shade for 50 to 75 pigs, Tribble says.

Water Cheap Way to Gain--

Make Sure Hogs Have Water And Shade to Keep Cooled

If you want to get the quickest and most efficient gain from your hogs during the summer months, make sure they have plenty of water to drink and a good shade to keep them cool.

According to a swine specialist at the University of Missouri, trees furnish the best shade for hogs. But often, hog pastures don't have any natural shade so an artificial one has to be provided. An inexpensive shade may be built by placing posts in the ground and building a framework on top of them with poles, scrap lumber, snow fencing or woven wire. This

Education Plan In Progress For Promoting Dairy

By O. E. Allen
UM Extension Economist

Many consumer education programs are in progress pointing out the need for dairy products in the daily diet.

On the national level, the U. S. Department of Agriculture has promoted extra milk consumption through the special school milk program and by pointing out the economy of using dairy products.

The National Dairy Council is working through doctors, dentists, schools, and county and community institutions on the project of making more people realize their need for milk. An active advertising campaign on TV, radio, and in newspapers is being carried out by the American Dairy Association.

On the state level in Missouri, the College of Agriculture and the Agricultural Extension Service are promoting the idea of making milk available in places where people congregate. The State Department of Agriculture is assisting with the program to increase use of dairy products.

There is an especially large amount of dairy marketing activity on the local level. County extension agents are stressing the use of dairy products for better health and nutrition. Local civic groups, parent-teacher groups, and farm organizations are working together on this project.

And the folks who produce dairy products are doing much to promote consumption. Dairy men and dairy manufacturers are cooperating with civic groups in holding dairy festivals throughout Missouri. Also, producers of dairy products are continually striving to improve the quality of dairy products being marketed. Increased use of dairy products last year indicates that all these activities and efforts are paying off. However, there is still much to be done and each one of us can play a part in increasing consumption still more.

Alfalfa Needs High Fertility For Success

By MARSHALL CHRISTY
MU Extension Soils Specialist

The success with which alfalfa can be established on nearly every Missouri farm depends largely upon soil treatments made prior to seeding. In fact, soils which were once thought to be entirely undesirable for alfalfa are now producing excellent yields when treated so that plant food is not the limiting factor of production.

Popularity of alfalfa has increased greatly as it withstands drought conditions exceptionally well. On many farms it can provide much roughage as silage, hay or pasture. Balanced farm planning will aid in deciding how much alfalfa acreage is needed.

Adequate mineral treatments plowed down deep are a must for alfalfa because it takes high mineral fertility for a vigorous productive stand.

First step in establishing alfalfa is to test the soil to determine the present inventory of plant nutrients. Deficiencies that exist can be removed with adequate applications of limestone, phosphate and potash.

Corrective treatments should be applied as early as convenient and then plowed under deep. Deep plowing is especially important for soils with tight subsoils. Corrective treatments placed deeply encourage alfalfa to root deeply and thereby withstand drought conditions and minimize winter heaving.

Early summer plowing is desirable. Weed and grass growth can be prevented by shallow working of the field with a disk or spring-tooth harrow several times prior to late summer seeding. This shallow working aids in preparing a firm seedbed as well as maintaining better moisture conditions in the surface soil.

A good firm seedbed is essential with any seeding and especially with late summer alfalfa seeding. If the seedbed is too loose, there is a chance of losing the stand. A cultipacker is an excellent tool with which to prepare a firm seedbed as well as to press the small seed into the soil at just about the proper depth. You should be able to drive a car over the seedbed and leave nothing more than tread marks.

For the stand to get off to a good start, it is well to use a starter fertilizer containing nitrogen, phosphate and potash. A minimum of 30 to 40 pounds each of soluble phosphate and potash in a mixed fertilizer works well. Even though alfalfa is a legume, it has limited ability to fix nitrogen for several weeks after seeding. Therefore, the use of adequate amounts of nitrogen helps to establish a vigorous stand with plants getting off to a good start for winter and also helps to produce a high yield the first year. Use up to 40 pounds of actual nitrogen or more per acre.

On some fields with exceptionally low organic matter, it will be desirable to use 50 pounds or more. Other soils with high organic tests, 30 pounds of actual nitrogen per acre would be adequate.

Alfalfa established from the middle of August to the first of September with adequate mineral fertility and nitrogen can be expected

Army Is Planning Steady Strength Of 578,000 Men

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress has been told the Army is planning on a permanent strength of 578,000 men in the indefinite future.

Retiring Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens told a House Appropriations subcommittee in testimony released today that this is the maximum total for which the Army now intends to ask Congress to finance permanent construction.

Under President Eisenhower's disputed cutback program, the Army is scheduled to be down to 1,027,000 men by mid 1956.

Funds for permanent barracks and other buildings in this year's two-billion-dollar military public works budget, which the subcommittee is considering, are "based on the goal of arriving at the permanent peacetime army . . . of 578,000," Stevens said.

That is a goal for the indefinite future, he said, but gave no indication when the manpower level might be cut to that figure.

Lifelong Friend Kills Boy With Shotgun After Accident Shot

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Herbert Driggers, 15, is being held in Richmond County jail today on an open charge in connection with the fatal shooting of his best friend and next door neighbor, 16-year-old Clanton Clemmons.

Sol. Gen. George Hains said Driggers would appear before the grand jury Wednesday to relate events surrounding the Saturday morning shooting.

Funeral services were held yesterday for Clemmons.

Richmond County sheriff's deputies quoted Herbert as saying he accidentally wounded Clemmons while showing the latter a shotgun. The youth was quoted as saying he reloaded the weapon and shot Clemmons again at short range because he couldn't stand to see his friend screaming in agony.

The shooting occurred on the lawn between the homes of the two boys. Driggers told officers he and Clemmons planned to "camp out" Friday night but changed their minds after getting sick from drinking home made wine.

Roving Reports

The Sedalia public is wary of committing itself to an opinion on the All-Star baseball game tomorrow between the American and National leagues at Milwaukee.

Most people questioned stated the teams were pretty well matched and only a few would give a definite opinion.

The question asked those who answered was: "Who in your opinion will win the All-Star game tomorrow between the American and National leagues?"

Answers: Ad Taylor, Jr., 1120 Wilkerson: "The Nationals. They have a little too much hitting for the Americans."

Mrs. Oliver Thomas, 700 East 18th: "I wish it was the Nationals. But I say the Americans. They have the strongest hitting power."

Lon Klink: "National League. They have a little more power and better hitting."

Several others who did not wish to have their comments printed expressed different opinions on the outcome of the game.

Big 7 Tennis Champ Loses In Open Ply

TOPEKA (AP)—Big Seven tennis champion Bob Riley of Kansas City lost yesterday in his bid for an upset victory in the men's singles of the Jayhawk Open Tennis Tournament.

Riley was whipped easily by top-seeded Gene Land of Oklahoma City, 6-2, 6-2, in the feature event of the tourney's final day.

Another Kansas Citian fared better. Sallie Rielley captured the women's singles title with a 2-6, 6-4, 6-3 win over Owen McHaney of Little Rock, Ark.

Miss McHaney later teamed with Judy Mills of Chickasha, Okla., to trip Miss Rielley and Nora Prosser of Kansas City, 5-7, 6-1, 6-3, for the women's doubles title.

'Doodle Bug' Race Planned At Clinton

All eyes have been on the fast full house, "Doodle Bugs," that are in competition at the Golden Valley Speedway at Clinton every Wednesday night.

These cars have a Crosley body, no engine restrictions, are well-balanced, top star pilots sit behind the wheel and it's SPEED the fans will witness.

Jim M-Michael, youthful driver from Carthage, who has been setting a blistering pace at the Clinton track, will again be out to retain his winning form in Wednesday night's "open house" modified stock car program at the Clinton oval.

Frank Petty, star pilot of Miami who placed a close second in the main-go around to McMichael last week has high hopes in carrying the checkered flag in the 25 lap circuit main event.

Other highly regarded pilots who will be piloting the popular Doodle Bugs will be: Paul Curry, Carthage, and Jay Moore, heavy-duty pilot of Pittsburg, Kan.

Wednesday night's program is scheduled to have one of the fullest and fastest fields in the open competition races thus far this season. Several of the top-notch drivers from Kansas City are scheduled to appear with their new "chopped down" cars which Bill Chennault will be one of the contenders.

Clinton's highly rated driver, Crockett "The Rocket" Thomason will try his fast car No. 80 for the first time after a complete "revamping." Crockett has high hopes in showing the drivers the short way around in the main go.

Joe Dennis, high point driver of CMRA, Clinton, will be a hard contender for the checkered flag. To defend the leads will be the popular drivers from Springfield, Bud McKee, and Willie Crane, who will be piloting Bobby Tucker's red car No. one, a car and driver that will be worth watching.

Twenty-five or more cars are expected to round out the fast field for the evening's program. Time trials at 7:30 and the first race will hit the raceway at 8:30. A $500 guaranteed purse every Wednesday night.

Game Is Tuesday—

All-Star Hurlers Rested, Teams Have Few Injuries

MILWAUKEE (AP)—For the first time in years, the American and National League squads came up for the annual All-Star Game tomorrow with "rested" pitchers and a minimum of injuries.

Whereas in other years, all-star pitchers were called upon within 48 hours after working a nine-inning game on Sunday, only five of the 16 saw action yesterday. A year ago, five of the seven National League pitchers and four of the eight American League hurlers worked on Sunday.

Outside of Brooklyn's Roy Campanella, who was scratched several days ago because of a damaged knee, neither side reported any injuries. Last year, Al Rosen, Yogi Berra, Allie Reynolds, Mike Garcia, Campanella and Harvey Haddix all were crippled although some were able to play. In fact, Rosen, despite an injured index finger, hammered two home runs and drove in five runs to lead the Americans to an 11-9 victory in Cleveland.

Managers Al Lopez and Leo Durocher, who will direct the American and National League squads, respectively, have a wide choice of pitchers. Most likely starter for the Americans in Early Wynn (11-4), Cleveland's strong-armed righthander, who probably will be opposed by either Don Newcombe (14-1) of Brooklyn or Robin Roberts (13-7) of Philadelphia.

A sellout crowd of nearly 45,000 was virtually assured as Milwaukee's baseball-batty populace awaited the 22nd annual mid-summer spectacle with tremendous interest. To the fans in this frenzied metropolis, the game is something more than a mere exhibition.

The entire week of the game has been designated as an "all-star festival."

The original starting time was set back a half hour to 2 p.m. (local time) and 3 p.m. EST, to let baseball officials attend the funeral services for Arch Ward, Chicago Tribune sports editor, who founded the game back in 1933.

The game to be carried on network radio (Mutual) and television (NBC) is expected to gross $175,000 at the gate and $10,000 from radio-TV rights. The money goes into the major league central fund which supports the players' pension fund.

The Nationals have been installed as 13 to 10 favorites to win their fifth in the last six clashes.

Takes Open
At St. Paul

ST. PAUL (AP)—Tommy Bolt traded his famed temper for some unspectacular patience and a tip from Ben Hogan to get back in the winner's circle today with a victory in the $15,000 St. Paul Open.

The square-jawed Texan overtook little Jerry Barber of Los Angeles yesterday to finish 19 under par for a 269 in what was one of the steadiest shows of his stormy career. It earned him $2,400.

Bolt resisted the temptation to gamble yesterday and kept his head in the face of a three-stroke deficit he carried into the final round.

His own 68 did part of the job and Barber's slow collapse did the rest. Tiny Jerry the tournament leader for three rounds, slumped to a 73 and finished two strokes behind with 271.

Fred Hawkins of St. Andrews, Ill., and Arnold Palmer, the 1954 national amateur champion from Latrobe, Pa., tied for third with 273.

Bolt won with near flawless play from the tee that found him off the fairway only once during the four days. For this he credited some casual tutoring by Hogan in Texas a month ago.

"We played a round at Fort Worth and Ben talked to me about my driving," Bolt said. "I had been doing a lot of hooking. Ben changed my grip a little—and the trouble's gone."

American Pennant Not Won But It May Have Been Lost

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press
No one won the American League pennant in the last 10 days, but it could be that the Chicago White Sox and Detroit Tigers lost it in that span.

With the All-Star game break at hand, the New York Yankees hold a five-game lead over the Cleveland Indians, who are a length in front of the White Sox. Ten days ago, the Yanks were 5½ games to the good with the White Sox second—1½ up on the Indians.

Detroit, fourth when the 10 days started and 9½ games behind, now is fifth, victim of the onrushing Boston Red Sox. The Sox, with the incomparable Ted Williams, had a 9-1 record for the 10 days, taking over fourth place seven games behind the Yanks and 5½ ahead of the Tigers.

The Yanks played .500 ball, meeting mostly second division clubs, for the 10 days. Cleveland won eight of 12. The White Sox and Tigers who faded at the same time last season, lost six of 11 and nine of 12, respectively.

New York played at the same 50-50 pace yesterday, beating Washington 8-3 after losing the first game of the twinnill 6-4. Cleveland defeated Chicago 5-2, but lost the nightcap 4-2. Boston beat Baltimore 10-7 before rain washed out the second game. Detroit whipped Kansas City 10-1 after the A's had won 9-5.

In the National, Brooklyn's lead was trimmed to 11½ games in a

3-2 defeat by New York as second place Milwaukee split with Cincinnati. The Braves won 7-4, then lost 7-6. St. Louis whipped Chicago 7-2 and Philadelphia trimmed Pittsburgh 4-1 before losing 3-1.

The Yankees were beaten in a six-run fifth by the Nats that chased Whitey Ford. Carlos Paula homered to open the rally. In the nightcap, Mickey Mantle—whose two homers had gone to waste in the first game—whacked his 21st with a man on in the fourth as New York waltzed off to a 7-1 lead.

Rookie John Kucks was the winner, relieving Ted Gray in the fourth.

Virgil Trucks saved the day for Chicago, giving Cleveland four hits in eight innings of the second game. Bob Nieman's two-run homer off loser Herb Score wiped out an early 1-0 Indian lead on Larry Doby's solo shot.

The Red Sox collected a three-run homer from Williams, yet needed a five-run eighth to subdue the Orioles. A bases-loaded walk by Harry Dorish and two-run singles by Billy Goodman and Norm Zaichin did it. Gus Triandos homered twice for Baltimore.

The Giants won their three-game set with the Dodgers as Willie Mays' single drove in the winning marker in a two-run ninth inning.

Luis Arroyo made his third try for No. 10 and won for the Cards. Switch-hitting Red Schoendienst slapped two doubles righthanded and a lefthanded triple in support of the rookie southpaw.

Perform Unusual Blood Operation With Success

BALTIMORE (AP)—Using an ingenious new blood-saving tool, surgeons at University of Maryland Hospital here have relieved a man of a deadly condition in which the body's main artery balloons near the heart like a defective inner tube.

Dr. R. Adams Cowley, who performed the rare operation reported today the patient was discharged from the hospital exactly two weeks later.

A laborer from Cambridge, Md., he is one of the extremely few persons known to have undergone successful surgery for aneurysm, or infected swelling of the ascending aorta.

The new instrument, used in this operation for the first time, was developed by Cowley and Dr. John M. Allen, working with him as a fellow in the Cardio-Pulmonary Department here.

It is a clamp which enables blood to continue flowing through the aorta even while doctors are removing the damaged section.

In its first use during the six-hour operation, it helped keep the patient's blood loss down to three pints, compared with a usual loss of about 12 pints in four similar operations Cowley performed previously. The loss in one of the only other two known cases of this type was 30 pints.

Unions Warn Officials To Halt Violence

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP)—St. Clair and Madison county officials have been warned by the CIO Industrial Union Council here that recall petitions will be circulated to replace them if they fail to suppress "lawlessness."

"Events of the last few months," the council declared Saturday in a resolution, "have indicated lawless elements have developed a complete disregard for law enforcement."

The council which represents 7,500 to 8,000 workers, called on the officials the "redouble their efforts to root out such elements without fear or favor."

J. Fred Koenig, convicted black operator and racing news distributor, was murdered and his body found stuffed in the trunk of his car June 22. The cars of two of Koenig's pals, Birney T. (Chick) Haver and Kenneth Mueller, earlier had been riddled with bullets. Meanwhile, Chief of Detectives Al Bott said a witness, who reported he saw a man believed to be Koenig slumped in the arms of two men the night Koenig was killed, would view mug shots of hoodlums and gunmen from the area today.

Bott said if no identification is made from these pictures, he will ask Detroit police to send pictures of known gunmen and hoodlums to be viewed by the witness.

Chief George Dowling said special precautions are being taken to protect the witness, who has expressed fear for his safety. "We're trying to save this man's life," Dowling said.

The investigation apparently has turned along the lines that hired gunmen might have killed Koenig. The witness has said he saw the men holding up the third man and placing him in a car about three miles north of here on June 21.

MU Biologist Found Dead In Diving Rig At Bottom of Lake

WELDON SPRING, Mo. (AP)—Richard C. Marzoff, 28-year-old biologist from Columbia, drowned in saw mill lake where he had been diving alone doing research on fish life.

He had been missing since Friday. The body was found late Saturday night at the bottom of the lake. He was wearing a diving mask and weighted shoes which officers said prevented the body from coming to the surface.

Sheriff's deputies said something apparently went wrong with the diving equipment. He had been in the water about 30 hours.

The search was started after Marzoff's wife called the State Conservation Commission Saturday night, saying he had failed to return home. His jeep was found on a small dam below the lake, the door open and clothing on the seat.

Marzoff, survived by his widow and four children, worked for the wildlife unit at the University of Missouri, which is a joint operation of the commission and the university.

The lake is set aside for experimental and research work on fish life.

Contagious Litter

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Highway Department experts say litterbugging begets litterbugging. Most people hesitate to throw trash on the clean shoulders of a highway. But when once somebody starts tossing out paper and empty beer cans others follow suit.

They Remain Noncommittal—

Describes Three Turncoats On First Night of Freedom

HONG KONG (AP)—I took the three American turncoats out for $40 worth of drinks last night in a round of dance halls.

I agree with one of them, 22-year-old Lewis W. Griggs, that they "aren't very smart." But what else they are I couldn't say.

I spent their first evening of freedom with Griggs, William A. Cowart and Otho G. Bell in the line of duty, hoping they would reveal more than they had in evasive answers during the news conference following their arrival in Hong Kong yesterday.

Helped along by mambo music, double scotches, beer, Manhattans and plenty of American cigarettes, they appeared to talk freely. But they committed themselves on little.

All three kept repeating that things were hell in Red China.

Cowart, 23, of Dalton, Ga., was anxious to line up some "quick cash" and also talked vaguely about contacts with an anti-Communist underground in China.

Bell, 24, of Hillsboro, Miss., kept repeating that he couldn't wait to "see that beautiful little daughter of mine." The child, Paula, now 4, was born after he was sent to Korea. Her mother is working at a military base near Olympia, Wash.

Griggs, of Jacksonville, Tex., reckoned they had "outsmarted the Reds in getting out."

Griggs sat silently at first, sipping Coca-Colas and then switching to beer. Suddenly he turned to me and said:

"You know we aren't very smart. But I feel positive we outsmarted the Reds in getting out. I'm convinced our case was dealt with by no less than Mao Tse-tung himself."

"They never knew exactly how to handle us after we started acting up," he continued. "We aren't too smart, but we forced the top boys in the Communist government to handle our case. Boy that makes me feel we accomplished something."

All three asked about the trials of Edward S. Dickenson and Claude Batchelor, two other Korean POW's who changed their minds earlier about staying with the Communists and were turned back to the U.N. Command in Korea. They said they had heard the two men were free, awaiting another trial. Both actually are in prison after being convicted of collaborating with the enemy. Batchelor on a 20-year sentence and Dickenson for a 10-year term.

As he had been at the news conference, Cowart was the leader of the group. Bell and Griggs frequently looked to him for guidance. Finally Cowart brought the conversation around to money.

"Look, we have to pick up some quick cash before we land in the States," he said. "Have you any suggestions?"

After a brief silence, he began asking for offers: "I have plenty to tell and will tell if I'm paid. What's it worth for our stories—individually or all three?"

Title Prediction?
CHERRY GROVE BEACH, S.C. (AP)—After Hurricane Hazel struck here last October there was little left of the Cherry Grove Hotel and a 700-volume library maintained for guests.

Recently the owners, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Pfaff, were supervising work on the sand dunes around the rebuilt hotel and noticed the corner of a water-soaked book, all but buried.

When no offer was forthcoming, Cowart brought out his cloak and dagger story. He maintained he had underground contacts in Red China among "people who worked against the government." — White Russians, Japanese, overseas Chinese who had returned to the mainland and other dissatisfied persons, he said.

As the hours rolled on and the drinks went down, the talk boiled down to usual barroom chatter — sports, movie stars and sex. Finally everybody was yawning and I picked up the check.

Uranium Dirt Makes Money For Farmer

COMANCHE, Tex. (AP)—Jesse F. Reese is taking greenbacks out of some very poor uranium dirt these days. At first he was reluctant, but now he's gotten rid of his dairy herd to make room for the old folks.

He charges people $2 for the privilege of sitting in his uranium dirt for two hours. About 150 a day pay for room to sit. It once took Reese a considerable amount of milking to get that sort of money from his cows.

Reese discovered uranium on his farm two years ago, but not in commercial quantities. He forgot the matter.

Last September a stranger asked Reese if he could sit in his ditch. Seems he'd been taking radiation treatments for pains for rheumatism and thought he could get some help from the ditch while visiting Comanche relatives.

Reese told him to go ahead. The word spread. Soon sitters were trampling his fields and leaving gates open.

Reese thought he'd stop that bother. He declared anyone could sit in his dirt for $2 for 2 hours. He built a shed big enough for six persons to sit on benches. On the floors and behind sheetrock walls he piled dirt.

That didn't stop them. By June of this year people were standing in line. He expanded the shed to 10 times its original size. He's sold his dairy herd and will convert its barn to sitting. So he and his wife can get some rest, he's planning a 9 p.m. curfew.

Reese makes no claims and never has. He has each sitter sign a printed pledge saying he visited the farm voluntarily.

Flash Floods Cripple County in Kentucky; One Dies, Crops Hurt

LANCASTER, Ky. (AP)—Flash floods in this rich burley tobacco-growing area of central Kentucky Friday left one man missing and damage estimated in excess of a million dollars.

Sheriff L. C. Daniel said Clyde Newby, about 54, remained unaccounted for and was presumed drowned. Two children reported to have drowned were found alive and unharmed.

Four inches or more of rain fell on Garrard County in less than two hours, glutting streams and sending an overflow down the valleys.

Tobacco, corn and young grasses washed away. Soil erosion was great.

Robert Hagan, county road engineer, said half the county's bridges and culverts were washed away or severely damaged.

Western Auto Shows June Sales Increase

NEW YORK (AP)—Western Auto Supply Co. (Missouri) reported today for June total sales of $18,210,000 compared with $15,384,000 in the like month last year. Turnover in the first six months this year with $75,455,000 a year earlier.

The company owned 410 retail units and served 3,998 wholesale accounts in June this year compared with 289 and 2,873, respectively a year ago.

Light That Failed

PETERSBURG, Va. (AP)—Traffic piled up at a busy intersection while a driver of the lead car sat calmly behind the wheel. The driver told police he was waiting for the light to change. But there wasn't any light.

The judge said $100 fine and thirty days in jail when the driver admitted that, while maybe not seeing double, he was "in no condition to drive."

Convict Time Unchanged

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP)—The New Mexico Penitentiary isn't going along with Santa Fe on daylight saving time. A prison official explained: Prisoners aren't going anywhere anyway.

Restaurant Worker To Fight Extradition On Alabama's Charge

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Frank M. Beverly, who says he'll fight extradition to Alabama where he escaped from a prison road gang in 1947, has gone back to work as manager of a Sunset Strip restaurant.

He was working yesterday, two days after admitting to police that he was really Oscar Fred Twidahl and had served two years of a five-year sentence. He claimed he was convicted on a false charge of embezzling $200.

Police said the Alabama State Board of Corrections has indicated it will move this week to extradite Beverly.

Meanwhile Beverly is free on a bond returnable Thursday. He is staunchly supported by his wife, Eunice, 36, whom he married here, and his employer, Sam Spiegelman.

Beverly lives in a $15,000 home with his wife and 6-year-old son, Michael.

Nuclear Attack May Render Cities Useless

WASHINGTON (AP)—Civil Defense Administrator Val Peterson says it's "entirely possible" that some American cities, once subjected to nuclear attack, could never be entered again.

In testimony released yesterday by a House Appropriations subcommittee, Peterson cited New Orleans as the one city that might literally disappear if attacked from the air.

Because New Orleans is "built on only two or three feet of dirt resting on water," Peterson said, the crater caused by a nuclear bomb might transform the city into a lake.

post pays between $12,000 and $13,000 a year.

Morrow, a native of Hackensack, N.J., has been an adviser on business affairs to Secretary of Commerce Weeks since September 1953.

In the American Red Cross, volunteer workers outnumber paid workers about 100 to 1.

Hal Boyle's Column—Champion Hog Caller Says Inborn Talent Not Necessary

By HAL BOYLE

MARYVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Hog calling isn't nearly as difficult as it sounds.

A lot of people who probably would like to take up hog calling for a hobby have turned a painting instead because they felt hog calling took more real inborn talent.

Robert Clark, a champion in this vocal art form, feels such people are defeatists — and give up too easy. Clark last week won the hog calling contest at the National Hill-billy Homecoming here for the third straight season.

Never defeated in action, the 43-year-old hillborn farmer, a strapping 6-footer weighing 260 pounds, met and survived an expected challenge this year. One competitor tried to outdo him by appealing to porkies with a dulcet call blown simultaneously through two steer horns.

It was a musical triumph and the pigs appeared impressed. But they sat silent on their hams.

However, when Clark strode to the platform and lifted up his old familiar cry, they squealed and ran frantically after this big Pied Piper in overalls.

Modest in victory, Clark explained later that nothing really stirs the soul of a hog more than a loud promising human voice at mealtime.

"The main thing in getting a pig's attention," he said, "is to have a loud voice."

"Personally, I have always found it hard to whisper. But if you got a loud voice, you have to learn to control it."

But Clark disdained the suggestion that to succeed as a hog caller a man needed any particular personality in his voice, although he felt that a high tenor had certain natural advantages over a bass.

"The pigs ought to be able to hear you at least a mile away and come arunnin'," he said. "I've got a brother who can bray like a jack, and you can hear him for two miles."

There are no national contests in braying like a jack, however, so the brother hasn't won the public fame that Clark himself has.

Some hog callers may try to make their cries and mysterious as the chant of a tobacco auctioneer's to untrained ears. But Clark's call is as crystal clear to his human auditors as it is to the pigs to whom his voice holds magic.

If you are interested in hog calling, he says you can get the best results with this cry:

"Piggy, piggy, piggy, o-o-o-oh—heeee Pig."

The thrice-repeated word "piggy" catches the distant hog's ear. The "o-o-o-oh—heeee" stirs pleasant memories of home in his stomach. And the short crisp exclamation "pig" must be given quickly and affirmatively. This creates a doubt in the hog's mind as to whether anybody really cares whether he comes home or not. So he comes as fast as he can, hoping he'll still be slopped.

"But by and large, you just have to have a loud voice," said Clark, honestly.

Hog callers are among the cleanest livers of any sports champions. Clark, who still plays basketball at 43, says he never "had the habit of smoking or drinking in my life."

Anybody who wants to get into hog calling even as a part-time career had better hurry. It's a vanishing art.

Clark was one of seven sons raised on a 40-acre hill farm. He works now as a blacksmith in the Alcoa Aluminum plant and has a 12-acre farm and six children.

"They used to let hogs root in the woods and you needed a strong voice to reach them over hill and hollow. But now they keep them penned," he remarked. "Anybody can call a hog that can see him."

The big hog calling champion paused and looked concerned. "I have an awfully strong voice, and it comes to me naturally," he said. "Have I been talking too loud? I do find it hard to whisper."

'Confidential' Editor Claims Missed Boat Because of Publicity

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—New York editor Howard Rushmore, complaining that publicity given a trip he wanted to be secret has made his sources "clam up" flew back to Chicago today.

It's like "working in a gold fish bowl," he said.

Rushmore, a 6-5 200-pounder who is editor of Confidential, a bimonthly national magazine, popped up in Butte, Mont., under an assumed name Saturday. He said he was searching for a man he described as a top Communist leader.

But by then publicity about his being missing from Chicago had caught up with him, and he flew to Salt Lake City looking for another man.

He said the reports about his being missing were "all a big mistake." They arose when he failed to keep an appointment Friday with a Chicago detective.

He denied his disappearance was a publicity stunt.

He refused to identify the men he was seeking.

Escaping Convicts Charged on Suspicion Of Murder With Auto

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Two convicts who struck and fatally injured two persons while driving a stolen prison station wagon in a futile escape attempt Saturday have been charged with suspicion of murder.

The convicts, Luther J. Masters, 33, and Harry L. Nelson, 27, set off a wild chase through Atlanta's southside by taking the station wagon and fleeing while on a work detail at the Dekalb County prison camp.

They struck 17-year-old Johnny Howell, who was riding a motor-scooter, and Atlanta Patrolman Clyde L. Ellsberry, 27, who attempted to stop them on a motorcycle. Howell was dead on arrival at a hospital. Ellsberry died yesterday.

murder in 1949 after her husband, Vivian, died of poisoning. Vivian was Raymond's brother and the Mrs. Ashdowns are sisters.

Sheriff Arthur Nelson of Iron County said the Cedar City woman told of putting "five or six grains of strychnine in a glass of lemon juice."

Her husband, the father of seven, died Tuesday. His brother died after strychnine was put in his hamburger during a party at Home-
